PanchalVeda Agrofoods: A Flavorful Delight Infused with the Aroma of Heeng

What sets PanchalVeda namkeen apart from other varieties across India is its bold use of heeng, an aromatic spice derived from the dried resin of the asafoetida plant. Heeng plays a central role, imparting a distinct, earthy, and somewhat musky flavor that elevates the snack. PanchalVeda Namkeen is more than just a snack; it is a culinary legacy that reflects the rich cultural heritage of Farrukhabad-the land of Gautam Buddha, Neem Karoli Baba and Panchali (Draupadi) .
